Lijar

€105,000

A superb townhouse situated in the village of Lijar (Almeria). No expense has been spared on this property converting it into a wonderful family home. On the ground floor upon entering the house there is a reception area with a bedroom to the right. The reception area leads through to the main lounge with fireplace. Also on the ground floor is a fully fitted kitchen leading to a large storage area and the street to the rear of the property. Completing the ground floor is a hallway leading to the marble stairs and a bathroom. There is also a small patio with views across to the mountains.

Upstairs there are a further three good sized bedrooms, another lounge area and bathroom. With the quality of the materials used throughout the house this makes a bargain property for anyone looking for a property in a pretty Spanish village.
